

change in psychology. Instead of a one-three unit course now required, there will be two courses, only one of which will be required.

The only probable change in physical education will be the addition of a unit to the four-unit requirement. This will probably be shifted from Physical Education I to Physical Education II. Music will consist of two to four units. Music will consist of only two courses and will be three- and three-unit courses including Music 533.

Additional requirements in grammar, speech, and world literature will be required for those who fail in certain examinations. There is a great effort being made on the part of the curriculum committee to raise the unit value of courses so that there will be less study preparations per week.

Full Information Concerning Fall Registration Plans Announced by Registrar Show Changes

Pre-Registration Consists of Period of Consultation During April 11-27

"Student Faculty Participation = Registration Success" is the motto of this semester's Registration Committee, according to Eldred Bates, student chairman.

Pre-registration will consist only of a consulting period April 11-27. Students will consult their department representatives regarding choice of courses for the fall term. No time schedules will be made out at this time, simply a list of suggested courses. All freshmen, low sophomores, and students with less than a C average must have these study lists signed by their advisers. It is very important that these study lists be signed before students leave the college this term. High sophomores are not required to have any signatures, but should not fail to make out a study list. These study lists are not to be turned into the office. They should be finished before April 26 and are to be kept by the students until the opening of the fall semester.

The completed program for the fall registration is as follows:

April 11-27

Pre-Registration or Counseling. List of suggested courses signed by advisers for freshmen and low sophomores. (Not a time schedule; simply a list of suggested courses.)

Monday, August 20

Registration Day. Additional or additional units in the office of the Registrar.

Wednesday, August 22

Instruction begins (classes to be held for full time).

OLD STUDENTS:

1. Go to Room 109, leave filled-out Registration Booklet and schedule of courses.

2. Go to Room 109, leave filled-out Registration Booklet, pay basic fees, and have list card stamped "paid."

3. Make schedule of hours on study list.

4. Go to the Gymnasium, where a. To enter gymnasium student must present study-list card stamped "paid."

b. In the Gymnasium go to departments for registration in the various classes wanted.

5. Go to class on Wednesday, August 22.

6. File official program card and application for limited or additional units in the office of the Registrar at the end of the second week.

7. Pay incidental course charges at the end of the sixth week.

NEW STUDENTS:

Low freshmen, transfers, limiteds, and re-entrants register in Anderson Hall.

All students who are planning to leave the college in May (other than graduates) are requested to notify the Registrar's office in writing before May 4. Kindly put such notification in the Registrar's post box (Faculty Box 19).

File Programs for Summer by Apr. 27

Students intending to attend Summer Session are urged to sign up as soon as possible on the poster outside the Registrar's office, or with Grace Whitty, student chairman of Summer Session. If any regular student decides to come to this session after the regular term closes, he must report to the Registrar's office before June 25 to fill out his program.

Miss Whitty announces this procedure for registration:

1. Between the dates April 11 and 27, students are to consult faculty advisers and department representatives regarding choice of courses. All programs for freshmen and sophomores, and students with less than a C average, must be signed by the faculty advisers.

2. Following this procedure students must apply for program cards in the Registrar's office. These are to be filled out in ink, signed by advisers, and returned to the Registrar's office for checking and filing. Programs must be filed not later than April 27.

3. Fees are to be paid on June 25. Subcommittees are headed by Geraldine Rademacher, Beatrice Gordina, Phyllis O'Neal, Barbara Watson, and Elizabeth Maffei.

Classification of Students Simplified

"Students are classified according to credits and not according to the number of terms or years of attendance," states Miss Florence Vance, recorder.

Low freshmen are those students who have credits anywhere from 0 to 14. High freshmen classification includes those with 14½ to 29 units, while low sophomores are rated as such if they have 29½ to 44 credits. Those having 44½ to 59 and 59½ to 74 are high sophomores and low juniors respectively. For high junior rating students should have 74½ to 89 credits, and for low seniors 89½ to 104 credits are required. High seniors are only those students who have 104½ credits or over and who have filed applications for graduation.

Hunting Lecturer

Mr. George Hunting, of Fresno State Teachers College, will replace Dr. Elias Arnesen, professor of English, during the summer term.

English 1162, "The Contemporary Novel of Russia and Scandinavia," which Dr. Arnesen was to give, will be changed to "The Contemporary English Novel."

The course is divided into two parts, each of which will receive one unit of credit. The first three weeks Mr. Hunting will give the Contemporary English Novel. This will be followed by the Contemporary American Novel given during the last three weeks of the Summer Session.

Registrar's Notes

Sixteenth Week—April 16-21

1. All students who are to do their practice teaching at Perilla next semester are to meet with Miss Clara Crumpton Friday, April 20, at 12:15, in Room 114.

2. Other East Bay practice teachers for next term will meet Miss Crumpton Tuesday and Thursday at 2 o'clock in F. B. 216.

Reorganization of Curriculum Completed; Students in Every Class of Curriculum Affected; Notice of Changes to Be Taken Before Planning of All Programs

These are the rules for change from old to new curricula:

1. Students are to be adjusted to new curricula without any penalty of units.
2. A mimeographed statement of equivalent courses will shortly be available. This will name the old courses, and their equivalents in the new curriculum.
3. Students should substitute the equivalent courses in planning their next semester's program.
4. Sometimes the equivalents will not be of equal value with the old courses. Where the value exceeds, the department concerned will provide rules of adjustment, so that the students will not be penalized.
5. The no-penalty rule is to be observed within the basic minor, and major requirements of each department. In certain cases, perhaps, this will be impossible; but in such cases, any adjustment must be without excess of a graduation total of 124 units. (The latter rule will not hold where the student in planning a combination of credentials, would originally have been required to complete over 124 units).
6. Difficult cases of adjustment are to be handled, first, by advisers and department representatives; secondly, by department chairman; and, on appeal, by the Deans of the Divisions.
7. Plan so as not to be set back in time or units. If penalty seems unavoidable, consult the Dean of Upper Division.

RETURN BASEBALL GAME AT SAN JOSE

GATER GLANCES

This is the last issue of the Golden Gater for this term with a Sport Section. That means from now on your correspondent studies, rests, and otherwise minds his own business without a care in the world except finals.

In concluding this term, let us retrospect and see what have been the policies and attempts made to better athletics and promote and generate a feeling of school spirit at this college.

Non-Varsity Men
Intramural activities have received a great deal of space. It is felt in the administration part of our athletic department, that this form of physical education is beneficial to a greater majority of the men of the school who are not able to compete in major varsity squads. Recreation sport instruction as well as exercise and actual physical skills acquired are an integral part of the program.

Insurance, or some form of protective assurance to athletes who compete on our teams, is another big project that was attempted. Not much besides a few inches of publicity and getting half of the coaching staff down on me, was accomplished. It is still felt that something more than the present set-up should be provided for the athletes.

Current Term's Sport Page Objectives Clearly Outlined
The third objective of this page in this current session was to present the views on the athletic events from the athletes' side, as well as the purely spectator standpoint. This has been done by trying to have members of the teams write the sport stories, whenever that has been possible.

Considering the purposes as they were originally intended and the final result, it can be said that only a relative amount of success has been realized. The intra-mural athletes have responded quite well to the program outlined. Approximately one hundred and twenty-five men have participated either as athletes or officials.

It is my sincere hope that the school spirit of Santa Clara will build up to a high point during the coming football season. During the past basketball season the team was quite successful and unusually well supported by the student body. The sport continued to improve, and in spite of a none too successful season of track, that sport had a large following. There is every reason to believe that football will be a banner year for the game of games and spectators attending.

Below you see the schedule of events for the remainder of the sports program this spring. We all have finals, but try to see all of the games and meet that you possibly can.

Gridders Hear Call of Spring

Coach Dave Cox wishes to announce the annual spring practice for football men. Light workouts on the fundamentals of the game and an initiation into the Cox system of play is the dual purpose of holding these workouts.

Many of the veterans of past seasons are expected to present themselves for these sessions. Chief among these are Owen Jones, tackle; Charley Eade, guard; Harvey Williams, center; Ed Saadallah, quarter; Winnie Perrine, end; Ralph Nathan, half; Ray Kaufman, end; Rudy Rudd, center; Ralph Simon, end, and many others. The time for the gridders to labor is not yet decided, but the length of time will be about one hour each afternoon every day next week.

Freshmen, transfers, and other men with ambition to make the headlines next fall are encouraged to attend these meetings. Cox hopes to get a line on the material available so that the next season he can get started early on the heavy schedule arranged.

S. F. State Netmen Bow To Stanford's Pacific Coast Champions, 2-7

English and Gugat Win Singles Matches From Cards

Stanford's varsity tennis team defeated the Gater netmen 7 matches to 2 on the Palo Alto courts last Friday. State made an excellent showing against the strong Indian team.

Ronald English turned in the first win for the Gaters that proved to be a tennis marathon in the first set, 16-14, but English got Downey's number in the second set, beating him to the tune of 6-1. Downey displayed superb form in all his strokes, but English won through his steadiness and placement.

Fred Gugat chalked up the other victory for Purple and Gold by defeating Martin. Gugat took the first set 7-5, dropped the second 2-6, and finally triumphed in the third set 6-3.

State Loses to San Jose in Their Second Tilt

Winning in a return match, San Jose again triumphed over the Gaters 6 matches to 3, on the college courts Saturday. State won two singles and one doubles encounter.

English, playing in first position, turned in another win by defeating Rotholtz easily in straight sets, 6-0, 6-4.

"Babe" Arlington tallied another victory for the Purple and Gold, to triumph over Breuer 9-7, 7-5. Arlington had a hectic time returning Breuer's chop strokes.

Barney Speaks at Women's Play Day

One of the most successful play days in the history of State's Women Athletic Association was completed on the local campus last Saturday with San Mateo and San Jose Junior Colleges as guests.

The program included dinner at the Bellevue with Dr. Edna Locke Barney as guest speaker. She made many interesting and amusing remarks about women gaining places in the present social and athletic order. Athletics should have an important place in every woman's life, according to Dr. Barney.

Miss Florence Hale, W. A. A. adviser, welcomed the visitors from San Jose and San Mateo. There were approximately 75 girls from both schools.

Following the dinner the group attended College Theater's production, "Death Takes a Holiday." The out-of-town visitors were housed at the Siena Club and in the houses of State women for the night. Saturday morning from 9 to 12 o'clock, athletic activities held sway on the college campus.

The sport activities were divided into three play periods, during which different groups participated in baseball, basketball, tennis, darts, deck tennis.

During the first intermission between sports, Doris Melnitsky and Marguerite Winters gave a tap dancing and boxing athletic exhibition. Following the dance act, the tumbling class, under the direction of Mrs. Katherine Bridge, athletic instructor, presented several novel stunts. They were accompanied by Miss Adella Spangenberg at the piano. This is the second semester that the tumbling group has worked out acts to music accompaniment for play day programs.

The success of this play day assures further similar events in the near future. Much credit is due the play day committee, headed by Margaret Mack, president of the W. A. A. The women's intramural basketball tournament is now in its third week. The schedule for the remainder of this week is:

Today

12:15—Cubs vs. A's.

Friday

12:15—Purple Pups vs. Rockets.

12:35—Ultra Violets vs. Bowman's Blazes.

This week's contests should be close games and ought to be well worth watching. The Rockets who are playing under the supervision of Virginia Conlan have proven to be a strong team and are out to win the championship. They ought to win their game on Friday.

The results of last week's play-offs were:

Spitfires 11, Cubs 1.

Shooting Stars 11, Yellow Devils 5.

Bugs 2, A's 0.

Hot Shots 13, Bowman's Blazes 13.

The Spitfires and the Shooting Stars had easy victories over their opponents. The Hot Shots and Bowman's Blazes gave their spectators an exciting game. As a result of the A's not appearing, the Bugs were awarded the game by default, which gave them 2 points.

All the tennis classes are now having tournaments. Dan Farmer's class is having doubles. Mr. Cowell's classes are having singles. The Velvea Cunniff is having both singles and doubles in her groups. The purpose of these tournaments is to find out the ability of each student in the class and to give each member of the class an opportunity to play.

Block "S" News

Initiations, elections, and a general meeting to close the term was the order of business in the get-together last night.

Walt Drysdale, president; Ed Saadallah, vice-president; Hal Gordon, secretary; Gene Dumesnil, treasurer, and Al Furst, sergeant-at-arms, are the officers for the coming fall term.

A day of first-class initiation is in store for the neophytes next Tuesday. Plenty of action and an interesting series of grueling experiences await the boys who have just earned their letters.

Not realizing that it would probably be hard enough to understand the directions in perfectly plain English, she has given them in the mysterious code language of witty sayings. It is perfectly simple. You read the directions, stand back and think awhile, then follow the crowd. Or easier yet, why not just stand there and wait until they come back, for it is either a false clue, or the treasure is right at the location from whence you started.

We hope they have lots of fun—and too much eats; do you get it?

HERE'S NEW SLOGAN

That's just what the men of this college should be doing all summer, welcoming prospective college men to San Francisco Teachers College. We can use plenty of them this fall, and from then on.

Talk up the curriculum, one of the best for an institution of this size. Tell them of the advantages of going to school near home. Ask them if they know there are over four hundred men in attendance here now. Tell them of the teams in intramural sports, rifle, and varsity intercollegiate competition.

For P. E. Majors

Puns and adventure, not coffee, is the order of procedure for the P. E. Majors Club this Friday, 4 to 6, around the campus.

Muriel Barthold, the master mind, is the instigator of the whole thing. She is to be credited with thinking up the plot and execution of it for the amusement and puzzlement of the unsuspecting members of the club.

Touchtackle Football League Nears Close in Final Week of School

Trackmen Dumped By San Mateo, 87-34

Competing in their first triangular meet of the season at Kentfield Saturday afternoon, the Gater tracksters took a first class drubbing from San Mateo and beat Marin; the score was 87 to 34 to 28.

The meet saw some fine performances in the field events, sprints, and the mile. Berger Johnson won the javelin with a good toss of 191' 2". Johnson has done better this season, but Saturday's throw shows he is consistent over 190 feet, which is good in most major competition.

Allee Pressed by Pomerantz in the Shot

Ray Allee won the shot as usual, but Charley Pomerantz' 46' 7" for a second place is the good news in this event. Allee graduates and State will still have a first place man in the shot next season.

While most of the winning times and distances were above the average, three San Mateo men made outstanding marks in the field events. Good won the high jump at 6' 3 3/4"; King threw the discus 145' 5"; and Dean broad jumped 22' 7".

Captain Dean of San Mateo Cops Broad Jump

High point honors for the meet went to Ray Dean of San Mateo, who scored nine digits. Dean won the broad jump and tied for first in the 100 yard dash.

The summary:

100 Yard Dash—Tie for first place between Dean (SM) and Granville (SM); Hornung (M) third, and Nutting (M) fourth. Time, 10 flat.

220 Yard Dash—Won by Hornung (M); William (SM) second; Hyde (SM) third, and Bean (SF) fourth. Time, 2:18.

440 Yard Dash—Won by Rittenhouse (SM); Miller (M) second; Millett (SM) third, and Carlyon (SM) fourth. Time, 5:17.

880 Yard Dash—Tie for first place between White (SM) and Grado (SM); third place tied between Stallard (SM) and Wenzel (SM). Time, 2:07.2.

1 Mile Run—Won by Broadbent (SM); Dixon (SM) second; Thomas (M) third, and Hinton (SM) fourth. Time, 4:38.6.

120 Yard High Hurdles—Won by Wallace (SM); Bell (SM) second; Hoffman (SF) third, and McLaughlin (M) fourth. Time, 1:65.

220 Yard Low Hurdles—Won by B. Bell (SM); Wilkes (SF) second; McLaughlin (M) third, and A. Bell (SF) fourth. Time, 25 flat.

1 Mile Relay—Won by San Mateo (Millette, Hinton, Wilbor, Dean); Marin second. Time, 3:32.4.

Javelin—Won by Johnson (SF); 191' 2"; Curtis (SF) second, 173'; Liss (SM) third, 159' 8"; and Meine (SF) fourth, 151' 2".

Discus—Won by King (SM), 145' 5"; Jones (SF) second, 134' 9 3/4"; Allee (SF) third, 131'; Pomerantz (SF) fourth, 128' 3".

Shot Put—Won by Allee (SF), 47' 7"; Pomerantz (SF) second, 46' 7"; Levy (SM) third, 44' 7"; and Simpson (SM) fourth, 42' 10".

Pole Vault—Won by Morley (SM), 11' 6", and second place tie between Pomerantz (SF) and Bell (SF), 11'.

High Jump—Won by Good (SF), 6' 3 3/4"; Nutting (M) second, 6' 1/2"; McPherson (SM) third, 5' 1 1/4"; Carroll (M) fourth, 5' 10 1/4".

Broad Jump—Won by Dean (SM), 22' 7"; Smith (M) second, 22' 4"; Nutting (M) third, 22' 3/4"; Boore (SM) fourth, 21' 11 3/4".

When the screen settled down, Eade was seen standing, poised as a bird in flight. One arm was outstretched for balance. The gloved hand was held up. Blackiston was lying at his feet. Eade held the ball. Blackiston held his head.

Charley really scored two outs. One against Poly, and the other at the expense of Mr. Blackiston, who took plenty of first aid treatment before resuming play. There is no moral.

Gater Ball Club Wins Sixteenth Slugfest

Pounding out ten hits and allowing only three, Gater batsmen trounced the Poly High baseball team, 9 to 0, last Saturday at Ocean View ball park.

George Moscone pitched a clever game to hold the Parrots to three scattered bingles. His change of pace and slow curves proved fatal, fanning five men and did not allow one opponent past second base.

Joe Lee at second and Ken Wilkes at third played stellar, errorless ball. Wilkes to Lee to Bogdanoff, a double play combination that clicks in most of our games, worked twice in this game. The boys have a record of fifteen for the twenty-six games played.

Batting at his usual form, Bob Harris got three for three, one a double, one a single, and the last time up, he poked out a homer. Marcus leads the team in hitting for the season with an average of .430.

The swatsmiths close the season with a return game with San Jose at San Jose this Saturday. Last week the Gaters and Spartans played an 11-inning contest that was close and hard fought.

Coach Hal Harden is priming his men and the game will be worth the trip to the Peninsula City.

INTRODUCING

Charley Pomerantz, shotputter, discus thrower, pole vaulter, and general handy man on the track team, not to mention being a mighty fine prospect for Coach Cox's football varsity.

Pomerantz opened his athletic career at Poly High many years ago as a 130-pound class shot-putter. He held the record in this event for quite a while. Later, when he grew up, his ambitions soared. And soared is the word, for he took to pole vaulting seriously and established a record that stood until just recently.

So far so good for history, but just at present our hero is doing things in a big way for the Gater track squad. His proficiency lies in three events, namely, the shotput, discus, and pole vault. In the first named, Charley is the answer to State's prayers for a first place man next year.

This fall we hope to see him out in a football suit doing more big things for the good name of S. F. State.

His forte is tackle, a position that needs good men.

Not at all bashful, and he prefers cute little blondes. Or, should we say specifically, a cute little blonde?

Yes, Surfeit

Nine o'clock lecture, ten o'clock lecture, eleven o'clock lecture, twelve o'clock lecture, another lecture. And so, with a continuous round of lectures, the college day is concluded.

Characteristic of a college is its system of classroom lectures, and it is only natural that we should follow the typical procedure in our own institution. But is it necessary that every club meeting be another lecture? It is by no means our contention that club lectures are valueless, nor should we say "abolish them completely." Speeches by acknowledged authorities, both outsiders and faculty members, certainly bring to an interested group a great deal of informative and worth while material.

This system of lectures appears, however, as a well established habit among many of the extra-curricular organizations. Plans for the numerous meetings consist of securing a speaker, and as a result each gathering, in its presentation of another lecture, takes on the semblance of the class room. In such a situation as this there is no active participation on the part of anyone except the speaker. The student is merely a receiver for whatever ideas or theories the speaker presents.

Before a student can learn to discriminate and think for himself he naturally has need of a certain amount of knowledge. This alone, however, is not enough to enable the student to really think—to formulate ideas and viewpoints of his own. Along with this essential element—information—he needs an opportunity to express his own thoughts. A group composed of and guided only by the students, with no one to hand down ideas to be accepted at face value, would be a great advancement toward developing originality of thought and expression in the student. True, active student participation requires a good deal of energy and initiative. This is a solution usable only by the most progressive groups. But its benefits are commensurate with its difficulty.

Men's Club--Open Door Policy

Notice should be published that the Men's Club is open for personal exploitation. It is very democratic, indeed. Are you looking for public office at State? The Men's Club invites you to run as president or something. It is the fashion this season. Do any clubs wish to reward their second-best man? If so, nominate him for president of the Men's Association. "Will it embarrass him if he has not attended any of its meetings?" you might ask. The answer is no. Some very progressive leaders have considered it a highly commendable practice; in fact, they see nothing at all to hinder them from using the principle. And why not? Did they not take a whitewashing in the student body elections? Well, then, don't they deserve a consolation prize? Very logical, is it not?

The Men's Association is open to second-best men, so long as they are not active members of the club. If they have supported the club, they are disqualified, and rightly so. They have done their duty; they have preserved a vote for the club on the Executive Board. Now we must find someone to use this vote for any organization that is losing power.

Or, let us have real progress. Let's go a step further. Let us find some defeated candidate in a high school election; and have him run for president of the Men's Club. Let us write a new constitution with the following clause: "All active members of the Associated Men Students are ineligible to vote." Include this provision: "Any member who has been present long enough for the roll to be called at one meeting must be considered active." This will rule out of the candidacy for president all present supporters, leaving the field, desirably, to the seekers after solace.

Orphic Now Ranks

Scribes Club's achievement in the literary publication field with the Orphic has been an ambitious undertaking, with its ultimate success always in doubt.

A magazine depends upon a reading public for appreciation, and revenue for existence. The Orphic is slowly securing both. Students think it more and more worth while to examine the work of their contemporaries. More stir up enough energy to write. Often in the compilation of the Orphic, difficulties arose because of the dearth of material. At first barely enough manuscripts were handed in to make a magazine. The material now submitted is sufficiently voluminous to permit a more or less rigid selection of the work to be included. With many more contributors to choose work from, and with the greater volume of material, the quality of the selections published is naturally much higher.

Surmounting both these obstacles by supplying urgent encouragement, going through the throes of creation, and persuading friends to purchase the magazine, editors have succeeded in putting out an extremely readable little publication. The last one was good enough to place in Class B at the Alpha Phi Gamma convention at Santa Barbara, while more generously supported publications lagged far behind.

The spring issue is on sale. It will be worth your money and your time. You are welcome to praise it or tear it to pieces, but don't demonstrate the law of inertia!

Personalities

Hello! Everybody! Yes, sir, this is none other than the old snake doctor, Wes Johnson, bringing to you "a bit of this and a bit of that."

What do you think of Jean Webb, our editor-in-chief, as a snake "doctor"? Say! I'm sure you will agree that she really knows how to hand out the medicine. Yes, and that isn't all. Miss Webb has succeeded in maintaining the financial "up and up" of the Golden Gater. May the old doc point out that this is an almost impossible accomplishment during this period.

Be on the alert! Keep your eyes open! For there is a certain junior college transfer from a popular penitentiary institution who used to be noted for his many pictures of Sari Maritza, movie queen. It seems as though this stalwart son of Adam met a young lady who, you may be assured, knocked him "for a loop." Since this time he has never been seen without a print of our co-ed's beautiful face. Is it possible that one of State's beauties has usurped the place of the movie celebrity? Now, Harry, don't be bashful. Enlighten my curious public. The only reason we ask is that we haven't seen a picture of Sari in your possession for several months.

Now, children, gather around and get a load of some bad news. Brace yourselves, for several of you will be victims of a broken heart and a crushed spirit. Hear, ye! Johnny "Sailor" Goodwin has been "hooked" by a U. C. co-ed. Be not dismayed, for Fred Gugat, "Bill" Aibel, Ken Wilkes, Melvin Nickerson, Cecil Fairbanks, Bob Marcus, and Carl Gelatt are still among the living.

Do you know of my sisters and brothers? Speaking of my brothers, they are tall, blonde, and handsome. As you well know, I was short changed. If you see my brother, Berger Johnson, tell him that there are two beautiful girls on the campus who are anxious to meet him. Their names are Dorothy and Margaret. If he does not know who they are, the old doc will inform him of their last names.

It was at the Senior Dinner Dance that freshmen and upper classmen pranced to the "wee small" hours of "de morn." Emma Heide, president of Phi Lambda Chi House, and her handsome escort, Marshall Bealy, had a "hi de ho" good time. Miss Heide was so tired and worn the next day that the sandman met with no resistance when he closed her eyes for a two-hour nap in the cafeteria.

... Dinner for Press ...

State's poor over-worked journalists hob-nob with their "uppers" and this smacks of the "Razz" sheet, printed for Press Banquet, April 20.

Maybe I'm Lyon

Thots While Strolling the Campus:

College Theater's production of "Death Takes a Holiday" overshadows completely anything they have ever done before. Setting and costuming were excellent, while characterization left little to be desired. ... Congratulations to the W. A. A. for their successful dinner at the Bellevue Hotel, for about three hundred girls. Fine executive ability was shown by Margaret Marek, president. ... Page Mr. Marples, somebody! Who is the fellow Mrs. Marples says she could be "crazy" about? If Mr. Marples wasn't in the picture? ... Our consistent baseball fans—Anita Uhl and Lillian Hauptli.

Men may ridicule women for wearing high heels, but it was one of their sex that first introduced such a heel. It is said that Louis the Sixteenth appeared in court wearing high wooden heels on his shoes, to make himself taller and regally impressive since he was rather short. Thus the term "French heel" has been applied.

Knick-Knacks:

"Airscape" is a new word recently coined that will probably displace the old term "bird's-eye view." It refers to a picture taken from an airplane. ... White pepper is well-ripened black pepper. ... There is no legal distinction between a tenement and an apartment house. ... The Fascisti have adopted the peculiar cry, "eja, eja, eja, alala," which was used by their poet-soldier, Gabrielle D'Annunzio, during the World war. He revived this cry which was used by crews of Venetian galleys in the middle ages. ... Swimming is a requirement for women in twenty-two colleges and universities in the United States. Nine colleges demand swimming ability before conferring a degree. Even Iowa State College of Agriculture demands it.

At the City College of New York, six students were put into a trance by a psychology professor during an astronomy lecture. After the lecture they were awakened and quizzed. All but one had perfect imagery of the lecture. All of which proves that there must be a reason for sleeping in classes after all.

Minnesota co-eds are liable to a $10 fine or six days in jail if found wearing a fraternity pin, this being a violation of the law.

Apt Apothegm:

"He who would reform his neighbor must first reform himself, and that, if he do it honestly, will keep him so employed that he will have no time to criticize his neighbor. Nevertheless, his neighbor will be benefited—even as a man without a candle who at last discerns another's light."—From the Book of Sayings of Tsang Sandup.

Death's Holiday Discussed

By CLARICE DECHENT

PRESENTING Mr. Richard P. Marsh, the big blah-blah-blah, etc., of State, who will criticize "Death Takes a Holiday" for you. Remember, anything he says must not be held against me. OK, Dick, shoot!

"IN adamant chains shall death be bound."—Pope.

But Death, omnipotent and capricious, was given release Friday night, chiefly through the medium of Bill Connolly's deep voice and a splendid supporting cast, during the showing of Alberto Cassella's fantasy, "Death Takes a Holiday" by College Theater.

Every seat of the Community Playhouse in the Western Women's Club was occupied thus pre-assuring at least financial success for the play. Consummate skill in staging and directing was responsible for the play being an artistic success.

THE theme of Cassella's play consists in the development of a fantastic situation in which every living thing enjoys temporary surcease from death. A whim of "The Reaper's" (Bill Connolly) is responsible. This ominous fellow in an attempt to learn why men fear him, goes mundane with a vengeance, masquerading as the personable Prince Sirki. Only one individual, Duke Lambert (Dick Curtis), is aware of Sirki's true identity, and his promise of secrecy has been extracted. Sirki, as a guest in Lambert's home, makes love to three beautiful women. One of them, Rhoda Fenton (Clarice Dechent) recoils tearfully at his advances; another, Princess Alda (M. M. Davis) though desiring Sirki passionately, refuses him love. The third, the ethereal Grazia (Marcella Potasz), loves Sirki with an intensity that transcends the bounds of the mortal world. At the end of the play, Death enfolds the Princess Grazia in his arms, and by a remarkable scheme of lighting effects, the two fade into darkness, leaving only the glow of the fireplace in one corner of a blackened-out stage.

Bill Connolly's Sirki was a handsome one. His voice, which is deep and resonant, was better than his articulation, and his inflections were better than his gestures. Mr. Connolly's power of expressing quaint whimsicality or poignant emotion at will, made his characterization outstanding.

Marcella Potasz was blond and lovely as Princess Grazia. I enjoyed her soft voice.

Dick Curtis, as Duke Lambert, in his climactic scene where he reveals the true identity of Sirki, made up for a certain lack of convincingness apparent at the beginning of Act I. There was no indication of lack of experience in Bob Greene's portrayal of the unhappy, young Corrado, nor is there a very great need for restraint in his future characterizations.

Clement Zannini wrung every laugh out of a role replete with them. Pantomime, gestures, make-up, contributed to his adroit interpretation of the effete Baron Cesera, who suddenly found himself feeling young again, with the advent of Prince Sirki as a guest in the household.

Don Pidgeon's unique profile stood him in good stead in his interpretation of Major Whited. Crisp diction, in addition to an intelligent sensitiveness, were responsible for his being outstanding in a minor role. His green soldier suit was all right.

Princess Alda came to life through the cultured intonations of Mary Margaret Davis. Miss Davis moved gracefully about the stage, and succeeded in being convincing during her love scene with Sirki. Art Hull, like Connolly, is fortunate in having a deep, resonant voice. I liked Mr. Hull's Eric Fenton in spite of occasional awkwardness. Or because of it.

Gabriel Loneragan, in portraying Princess Marie, did not play so hard at being mother-like, as to neglect making the character she represented an interesting and delightful woman as well. This is unusual for an amateur.

Clarice Dechent was appealing as Rhoda Fenton in her first play at State. She created an appropriate air of chastity. Florence Humphrey's make up is said to have been struck by real tears in one scene, according to those near her on the stage. Miss Humphrey portrayed Stephanie.

Al Moosavian and Anita Uhl portrayed the inevitable roles of the servants.

On Other Campi

A professor who arrived on the campus at Berkeley from Scotland recently entered into a lively discussion of California cities, and before very long was asked what he thought of Los Angeles.

"Los Angeles," he said hesitatingly, "Los Angeles—that's somewhere near Hollywood, isn't it?"

Via the "Daily Trojan" the following boners come to us:

"The spinal column is a collection of bones running down your back and keeps you from being legs clean up to your neck."

"A spale is a Mexican delicacy wrapped up in a corn husk."

"Three shots rang out. Two of the servants fell dead, the other went through his hat."

"They gave William IV a lovely funeral. It took six men to carry the beer."

"Where is junior?" is the new slogan of Kent State College students, who are hunting for Ramon Antonio Segrado Ilanday Escandon, Jr.
